THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

THE SWAMP LANDS OF NORTH CAROLINA.

[We propose to give our readers, in several instalments, the information collected by the Literary Board of the State in regard to our Swamp Lands and recently published in pamphlet form.]

The Board of Literature of the State of North Carolina owns, in trust for the benefit of Common Schools, all the public swamp lands of the State.

Accurate surveys have not been made of all these lands, and the exact amount cannot, therefore, be stated; but enough is known to warrant an estimate of at least one million, five hundred thousand acres.—The lands are in bodies of from five thousand to ninety thousand acres; and they are situated in the alluvial or coast region of the State, and between the thirty-fourth and thirty sixth parallels of North latitude.

They lie chiefly in the Counties of Beaufort, Hyde, Washington, Tyrrell, Craven, Carteret, Onslow, Jones, Brunswick, New Hanover, Columbus, Cumberland, Bladen, Robeson and Richmond; and all these Counties are accessible to market by water or railroad carriage.

These lands are offered for sale on the most liberal terms, especially to actual settlers; and they present inducements to immigrants and capitalists rarely to be met with.

The Board of Literature will give alternate sections of six hundred and forty acres each, to parties who will drain bodies of these lands; and when a whole swamp can be disposed of at one sale, they will take a price less than the cash value of the timber with which some of the lands are clothed.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION

The term Swamp is applied in North Carolina to low, wet and spongy lands unfit for cultivation without thorough drainage. The statute meaning of the term is a large body of such land; and it is applied to districts in the alluvial region of the State not affected by tide or salt water, and includes swamps proper, marshes, and sheets of water that can be drained.

Some of the lakes are isolated, and others are found within the swamps and occupying their highest points; and all of these lands are susceptible of thorough drainage, the expense per acre being much less where large bodies are drained by one system of canals. This is one main reason why many of these lands have not hitherto been improved: for the swamps are too large for single proprietors, and the cost per acre of draining a single plantation, of moderate size, would generally be more than three times that of draining an entire district.

The lands are all level, and, being alluvial, are free of stones and pebbles, and, when improved, of very easy tillage.

SPECIFIC QUALITIES.

The swamp lands descibed above may be divided, with reference to soil, production and value, into three general classes.

FIRST.—The very fertile, of which the improved lands of Hyde County are the general type, and for a scientific description of which, of the highest authority, the reader is referred to the following extracts from reports, &c.:

SWAMP LANDS OF THE HYDE COUNTY TYPE: SCIENTIFIC AUTHORITY.

The late E. Emmons, LL. D., formerly of the Geological Survey of New York, and well and favorably known to the scientific world, was, at the time of his death, and for years before had been, State Geologist of North Carolina.

He examined with much care the agricultural characteristics of the swamp region of North Carolina, subjecting the soils to a thorough analysis, and personally inspecting their cultivation and production.

From an elaborate report made in 1858, the following extracts are taken:

"Maize (Indian Corn) must be ranked amongst the most exhausting crops; and it is evident that poor soils will scarcely repay the farmer for its cultivation. * * * * While it must be admitted that maize is an exhausting crop, it is equally clear and conclusive that it is one of the most important and valuable, and hence it may be regarded as one which pays the best. * * *

The foregoing remarks respecting the maize crop have been made in consequence of the peculiar adaptation of the soil of Hyde County to this cereal. It is the granary of the South. It is true that the number of bushels per acre which constitute the average crop is less than the number frequently made on other kinds of soil. Thus, a hundred bushels of corn may be grown upon an acre, but the Hyde County soils rarely exceed sixty bushels per acre; but from fifty to sixty bushels are grown, annually, per acre for an indefinite term of years, without the expense of fertilizers, while the heavy premium crops require a great expenditure on them; and these have to be repeated, in order to keep the ground in a good condition; and hence, in the long term of years, the profits of these rich lands greatly exceed those which are only moderately so, naturally, and require, every few years, an instalment of manure."—Report of 1858, pages 28th., 29th.

"The Hyde County soils have acquired a deservedly high reputation.

Some tracts have been cultivated over a century, and the crops appear to be equally as good as they were at an early period of their culture; and yet no manure has been employed, and they have been under culture in Indian corn every year, or what would be equivalent thereto. * * * *

In accomplishing the object of my visit, I was ably seconded by Dr. Long, of Lake Landing, who has become the owner of a tract which has borne this crop, (Indian corn,) for one hundred years without manures. It does not seem to have deteriorated by this long cultivation; or the crops do not show a perceptible falling off; still, there has been a large consumption of materials during the one hundred years of cultivation, which may be made to appear by analysis.

The great supply of nutriment, however, still holds out, and the one hundred years to come, if subjected to no greater drains upon its magazine of food, will, at such a distant period, continue to produce its ten or twelve barrels of corn to the acre."—Ibid, pages 19—21.

"In Onslow, the White Oak Desert is the most interesting tract of swamp land in the County, and is at the head of White Oak Creek. This tract may be drained into Trent River. The timber is very large, and consists of white oak, poplar and pine.

The most important work which has been undertaken, is the drainage of a part of this tract by Mr. Franck. He has been able to secure two objects, the drainage of the land, and a good water power, with a fall of about twelve feet.

The thickness of the soil in Mr. Franck's pocosin (swamp) is five feet towards the outer rim, and still thicker towards the middle, attaining at least ten feet of rich soil. * * * * * *

The excellent quality of parts of it, which are covered with heavy timber, proves by cultivation that it is equal to the Mattamuskeet lands of Hyde—their average yield being twelve barrels of corn to the acre."—Ibid, pages 37—38.

This White Oak Desert, or Swamp, lies partly in Onslow and partly in Jones County, consists of about ninety-four thousand acres, and belongs to the Literary Board.

"The Swamp lands of Brunswick and New-Hanover, and adjoining Counties, resemble, in many respects, those of Hyde and Onslow. The earthy matter is as fine as that of Onslow and Hyde County lands, and its quality and condition prove the same capacity, as it appears to me, for a productive cultivation for a series of years." Dr. Emmons.

Gen. Walter Gwynn, one of the most eminent and experienced civil engineers of the United States, and who, for many years, has been engaged in the various departments of his calling, in different States of the Union, has been several times in the employment of the Literary Board of North Carolina. He has surveyed a number of its Swamps, and in a report made to the Board in 1867, says:

"I am unable to state with precision what proportion of the State lands, amounting in all to about a million and a half of acres, belongs to the class that comes up to the standard of Hyde County or Mattamuskeet lands. I feel confident, however, that it exceeds somewhat a fourth, and that a large proportion of the remainder, though falling below this standard, is equal to the average quality of lands in the country, known and regarded as good lands.

The rest would be valuable as manures for other lands, and for peat, which has lately become an article of commerce from the neighboring swamps of Virginia."

"It will be useful to compare the swamp lands (of North Carolina) with the prairies of Illinois, whose characteristics have drawn westward so many emigrants from New England, New York and the old world.—The swamp soil of North Carolina show a greater capacity for endurance than the prairie soils of Illinois, nothwithstanding the annual crop is somewhat less per acre; but on the score of location we are unable to see that the Illinois soils have a preference.

As it regards health, Hyde County is no more subject to chills and fevers than the country of the praries. It is a remarkable fact that persons live and labor in swamps with impunity, or freedom from disease." Dr. Emmons.

All things considered, these lands are among the most desirable in the world: they produce grass and fruits as well as the cereals, are of easy cultivation, and are tilled from generation to generation, without showing any signs of exhaustion.

They are generally covered with a heavy and dense growth of timber, vines, reeds and grass; the soil is from five to fifteen feet deep, and consists of decomposed vegetable matter, fine sand, and finely comminuted clay. It produces exuberantly all the grains, grass, cotton, rice, peas, potatoes, turnips, pumpkins, melons, the garden vegetables, apples, peaches and grapes; but the test of its fertility is its growth of Indian corn, an exhausting crop, which it will yield in large amounts, from year to year, without manures or stimulants, and for an indefinite period.

It will not produce as much per acre as the heavy clay soils in the highest state of improvement; but, considering the difference in the expense of production, the crops of the former are vastly the more profitable.

The average yield of Indian corn per acre, without the application of fertilizers or stimulants, is from fifty to seventy-five bushels; and experience has proved that this will continue from year to year for more than a century, while science infers, from the facts of the past and from careful analyses, that even two centuries of close cultivation will not exhaust the natural and ever renewing fertility of these soils.

SECOND.—Intermediate soils, partaking somewhat of the nature of the first class, and something, also, of that of the third.

Swamps of this character sometimes contain highly fertile fringes, or districts, alternated with sections of sandy lands not productive, or with peaty soils, devoid of timber; but generally the lands included under this head are of medium quality, producing the same growth with those of the first, but in less abundance

They would be regarded as very valuable but for their proximity to the best soils of the world; and many of them are more peculiarly adapted to wheat and the finer grasses than the lands of the first class; and their average yield of Indian corn, which is about twenty five to forty bushels per acre, can be cheaply and easily increased by the application of fertilizers which abound in this region.

They are, like the lands of the first class, of very easy tillage; and one good application of the marl, which is found in this section in exhaustless quantities, will add to their productiveness for twenty years.

THIRD.—This class embraces what is usually known in North Carolina, as Open Ground Swamp, being destitute of woody growth, not inundated with water, but always saturated with moisture.

The soil consists of organic or undecomposed vegetable matter, and not productive in its present state; but when turned up to the sun, acted on by caustic lime, and packed by cultivation, it becomes in many instances very fertile.

But it is due to say that the processes necessary to the productiveness of these lands are not likely to be applied at present in a region abounding in soils that need no improvement except a thorough drainage; and they are now valuable chiefly as vast repositories of peat, easily and cheaply obtained, and near to water carriage, and as exhaustless beds of manures for other soils deficient in the elements of which they consist.

OPEN PRAIRIE LANDS.

"Some of the swamps are open, or marsh lands; the surface is usually destitute of timber, covered with a coating of moss, or a growth of reeds and briars. These open lands were once, without doubt, clothed with a large and heavy growth of trees, which have, in the course of time, been prostrated by fire. * * * * The moss has a highly refractive quality, and almost entirely excludes the soil below from the influence of the sun: evaporation goes on slowly, the ground is kept full of water, vegetation checked, and what few seeds remain are so chilled as to destroy germination. * * * * The soil thrown up on the banks of drains, made into the open lands, produces a growth of bushes and weeds of the greatest vigor and luxuriance, and the only things requisite to render the open lands fertile are drainage and cultivation. The moss which now covers their surface, instead of being injurious, will, with lime dressing, make a coating of manure of immense value."—Report of Hon. A. Nash, Engineer in 1827, to the Board of Internal Improvement of N. C.

"Peat is one of the most common materials which has been employed as a fertilizer, and has received the same sanction of those who have used it."—Dr. Emmons' Report of 1860, page 59.

The Literary Board owns a swamp of this kind, containing 87,000 acres, lying on navigable water, and within a few miles of Beaufort, one of the best harbors on the Atlantic coast. The peat here is of the finest quality, and rich in the elements of fertility needed by more sandy lands.

PASSED AT THE JULY SESSION.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That it is hereby declared to have been the true intent and meaning of the act of the second day of March, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, entitled an act for the more efficient government of the rebel States, and of the act supplementary thereto, passed on the 24th. day of March, in the year 1867, that the governments then existing in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Texas and Arkansas were illegal and void, and thereafter the same governments, if continued, were to be continued subject in all respects to the military commanders of the respective Districts and to the authority of Congress.

SECTION 2. And be it further enacted, That the commander of any district named in said act shall have power, subject to the approval of the General of the armies of the United States, to have effect till disapproved, whenever in the opinion of such commander the proper administration of said act shall require it, to suspend or remove from office, or from the performance of official duties and the exercise of official powers, any officer or person holding or exercising, or professing to hold or exercise, any civil or military office or duty in such district, under any power, election, appointment, or authority derived from or granted by, or claimed under any so called State or the government thereof, or any municipal or other division thereof, and upon such suspension or removal such commander, subject to the approval of the General aforesaid, shall have the power to provide from time to time for the performance of the said duties of such officer or person so suspended or removed, by the detail of some competent officer or soldier of the army or by the appointment of some other person to perform the same, and to fill vacancies occasioned by death, resignation or otherwise.

SECTION 3. And be it further enacted, That the General of the armies of the United States shall be invested with all the powers of suspension, removal, appointment and detail granted in the preceding section to district commanders.

SECTION 4. And be it further enacted, That the acts of the officers of the army already done in removing in said districts persons exercising the functions of civil officers and appointing others in their stead are hereby confirmed; provided that any person heretofore or hereafter appointed by any district commander to exercise the functions of any civil office may be removed, either by the military officer in command of the district or by the General of the army; and it shall be the duty of commanders to remove from office, as aforesaid, all persons who are disloyal to the government of the United States, or who use their official influence in any manner to hinder, delay, prevent or obstruct the due and proper administration of this act, and the acts to which this is supplementary.

SECTION 5. And be it further enacted, That the boards of registration provided for in the act entitled "an act supplementary to an act entitled 'an act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States,'" passed March 2, eighteen hundred and sixty-seven, shall have power, and it shall be their duty, before allowing the registration of any person, to ascertain upon such facts or information as they can obtain, whether such person is entitled to be registered under said act, and the oath required by said act shall not be conclusive on such question, and no person shall be registered unless such board shall decide that he is entitled thereto; and such board shall also have power to examine under oath (to be administered by any member of such board) any one touching the qualification of any person claiming registration. But in every case of a refusal by the board to register an applicant, made in every case hereinafter provided, the board shall make a note or memorandum, which shall be returned with the registration list to the commanding Generals of the Districts, setting forth the ground of such refusal, or such striking from the list: Provided, that no person shall be disqualified, as a member of any board of registration, by reason of race or color.

SECTION 6. And be it further enacted, That the true intent and meaning of the oath prescribed in said supplementary act is (among other things) that no person who has been a member of the Legislature of any State or who has held any executive or judicial office in any State, whether he has taken an oath to support the Constitution of the United States or not, and whether he was holding such office at the commencement of the rebellion or had held it before, and who has afterward engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof, is entitled to be registered or to vote; and the words "executive or judicial office in any State" in said oath mentioned shall be construed to include all civil offices created by law for the administration of the general law of the State, or for the administration of justice.

SECTION 7. And be it further enacted, That the time for completing the original registration provided for in said act may, in the discretion of the commander of any district, be extended to the 1st. day of October, 1867; and the boards of registration shall have power, and it shall be their duty, commencing fourteen days prior to any election under said act, and upon reasonable public notice of the time and place thereof, to revise for a period of three days the registration lists; and upon being satisfied that any person not entitled thereto has been registered, to strike the name of such person from the list. And such board shall also during the same period, add to such registry the names of all persons who at that time possess the qualifications required by said act who have not been already registered, and no person shall at any time be entitled to be registered or to vote by reason of any executive pardon or amnesty for any act or thing which, without such pardon or amnesty, would disqualify him from registration or voting.

SECTION 8. And be it further enacted, That section 4 of the said last-named act shall be construed to authorize the commanding general named therein, whenever he shall deem it needful, to remove any member of a board of registration, and to appoint another person in his stead, and to fill any vacancy in such board.

SECTION 9. That all members of said Boards of Registration and all persons hereafter elected or appointed to office in said military districts, under any so-called State or municipal authority or by detail or appointment of the District Commanders, shall be required to take and subscribe to the oath of office prescribed by law for officers of the United States.

SECTION 10. That no District Commander or member of the Board of registration or any of the officers or appointees acting under them shall be bound in his action by any opinion of any civil officer of the United States.

SECTION 11. That all the provisions of this act, and the acts to which this is supplementary, shall be construed liberally, to the end that all the intents thereof may be fully and perfectly carried out.

THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, | SEATON GALES, EDITORS.

FRIDAY, JULY 26, 1867.

REGISTER! REGISTER! REGISTER!

Gen. Sickles will no doubt, in a short time, issue his order for Registration, and will specify, we trust definitely, so as to be fully understood by every one, who are entitled to register and vote. So soon as the day arrives for the registration, we beg and implore every man, thus entitled, to go and register. Let nothing but severe sickness, or disqualification under the law, prevent you from registering.

THE DEMANDS OF "CHANGE."

The Richmond Whig, in the course of one of its recent "Co-operation" articles, declares that what the Southern people require are "adaptability, and the renunciation of old habits and fixed forms of thought and feeling." If the Whig means that it will require much adaptability, and an utter disowning of old-fashioned notions of honesty and conservatism, on the part of our people, to justify an affiliation with the Radical party, we admit its premises and have nothing further to say, except that it is a renunciation which they will hardly, in any considerable numbers, practice.

Taken in a general sense, however, and divested of political bearings, there is much force and truth in what the Whig says.—There is an adaptability which we heartily commend to our people. We would have them adapt themselves to the situation which the results of the war have forced upon them, and profit by the lessons which have been taught them. We would have our farmers renounce the mistaken ambition for cultivating too many acres, and the false idea that the possession of broad and expansive fields, however barren or uncultivated, invests the owner with a proprietary importance, better and greater than the distinction of mind or merit. We would do away with that feeling that has been so generally felt against parting with lands,—even patrimonial or ancestral acres,—which grew out of a sensitive, but really morbid, reluctance. The small-farm system is one of the necessities of the changed condition of labor, and it will be found, in the future, that a blind policy has been pursued in this matter hitherto.

We would have our young men unlearn the idea that the professions are the only avenues to preferment and distinction, and that office and salaries are more desirable than labor. There has been a time, we regret to be obliged to say, in the past, when honest toil was too much looked down upon by the pampered and the purse-proud. In this State, for many years before the war, however, there was a marked change for the better in this particular. Many of the addresses at our literary institutions and our agricultural fairs, and the efforts of our journalism, were successfully directed to the enforcement of the "Dignity of Labor." The results of the war have literally extirpated all lingering, foolish and wicked prejudices, where such existed. Let all our people now realize that work, however menial, is the key-note to recuperation. Let the hard hand of labor be a surer passport to confidence and to society, than the downy palm of the drone and the idler, however rich in himself or however aristocratic in lineage.

While we would do nothing to the detriment of the black man, so long as he evinces a disposition to work and to fulfill his engagements, we would have our people disabuse themselves of the impression that cotton, rice, &c., cannot be as well and profitably raised by white as by colored labor. In view of the mischievous agencies at work among the blacks, and the unwise and insidious counsels to which many of them seem too much disposed to yield a credulous ear, it is but too probable that the departments of labor, in which they have heretofore been almost exclusively employed, must be altogether abandoned, or they must be filled by white men. That they cannot be so is only the fancy of prejudice.

We would have all our people discard the idea that they are dependent upon the North, or other outside sources, for so many of the articles of necessity or luxury that they use. The lesson taught us by the war, in this respect, is worth much of the sacrifice that it cost. It has developed a thousand capabilities in ourselves and in our State that were undreamed of before.—North Carolina possesses, within her borders, enough to minister to the wants of any reasonable man, and enough material wherewith to build up a flourishing commonwealth,—second to none in the Union in all the elements of physical greatness.

There are three respects wherein, we fondly hope, the mighty revolution which is sweeping over the face of things will leave our people untouched,—their native modesty and honesty, their just State pride, and their devotion to the principles of Constitutional liberty!

WE ARE in receipt of an exchange from Niles, Michigan, which flaunts the following rebellious motto: "Constitutional observance, exact justice, equal taxation,—or another fight!"

The death of Judge Wayne leaves the Southern States without a single Judge on the Supreme bench. The Supreme Court is to be reduced to seven judges by act of Congress. At present New England has one judge, the Middle States two, the Western States four and the Pacific States one. The complaint used to be that the South had more than its equitable share of the Federal offices. There does not seem to be much ground for such a complaint now.

THE COURSE OF THE EXECUTIVE UPON THE LATE RECONSTRUCTION ACT.—It is understood in well-informed circles that the President will cheerfully and promptly enter upon the execution of the reconstruction act of the last session, giving, if occasion requires, explicit instructions to the commanding generals. The utmost care will be taken to guard against possible collision with the generally understood wishes of Congress. It is believed, however, that all the Cabinet are agreed upon the principle, that the President of the United States, under the Constitution, has no power to exonerate himself from ultimate responsibility for all executive action under the Government, to the extent that he "shall take care that the laws are faithfully executed." Should an occasion unfortunately force itself, or be forced upon him, in which he must consent to be disobeyed or supplanted from his constitutional jurisdiction, or else require his commands, under the law, to be implicitly obeyed, by the power of the army and navy, if necessary, there is, we are satisfied, no authority for saying what line of action the Administration would adopt.—National Intelligencer.

The above may be regarded as semi-official. We sincerely hope that President Johnson, if he feels called upon, in view of the action of Congress, to do any thing at all in the matter of reconstruction, will confine himself strictly to what the obligations of his oath as Chief Magistrate absolutely require. Confiding entirely in the integrity of his purpose to do justice to the whole country, and fully endorsing his views as to the constitutional powers of the government and the rights of the States under the Constitution, we nevertheless deprecate any action on his part, however wise and well advised under ordinary circumstances, which would directly embarrass the people of the South and increase the difficulties under which they now labor.—Were our people pecuniarily able to bear the delays and obstructions which Congress has seen fit to place in the way of a fair and honorable restoration and reconstruction of the Southern States, then perhaps simple duty might demand, on his part, the exertion of all his powers to facilitate honorable reconstruction, and mitigate the difficulties which have been thrown around it. But if the political rights pledged to the people of the Southern States, as citizens of the United States, under the forms of the Constitution, by the proclamation of amnesty, and by the actual pardon granted to the masses of our people, are to be ignored and disregarded, it is to be hoped that the calls of humanity, and the cries of a suffering people for peace and a settlement of our difficulties, will not be stifled by any ineffectual efforts to do technically what Congress declares the President shall not do. Let us not be understood, however, as demurring to any wise and proper action of the President to maintain the dignity of his position, and to vindicate the Republican character of the Government. Under the control of the Congress, we certainly have no Republican Government in its proper sense.

THE WESTERN N. C. RAILROAD.

A short time ago, we fully endorsed the energy, business tact, and superior management of Col. S. McD. Tate, President of the Western North Carolina Railroad. He took charge of the Road, a little more than a year ago, under very embarrassing circumstances. Its operations the year before, under Mr. T. R. Caldwell's management, fell considerably short in its expenses over the receipts, though, in justice to all, it may be said, under the best of circumstances its receipts must then have been small.

We are glad to be authorized to say, that, under the management of Col. Tate, the past year, the Road shows a decided improvement. In a note to Gov. Worth, it is officially stated:

"Our fiscal year is just closed, and the accounts are all made up. We owe not one dollar on account of this year's operations, and show a clear nett balance of $8,737.61, after paying for all repairs," &c., &c.

TENNESSEE.—The election in this State takes place on Thursday next, the 1st prox. We presume that Brownlow has the game entirely in his own hands, and will not allow the people to hurl him from the position that he disgraces. The Editor of the Richmond Examiner and Enquirer, however, who, we judge, has recently visited Tennessee, or has otherwise had good opportunities of forming an opinion, says:

"There is hope in the political condition of Tennessee. The violences which have been adopted to secure success, have by reaction produced present danger, and rendered certain a future overthrow. In the white registered vote, packed and purged as we have stated, Brownlow will be beaten by two to one! His adherents are being weakened by daily defections of the best of their number. We are assured that there is positively scarcely a respectable man belonging to his party in the whole State!—The moral power of the community is all with the proscribed majority. The force of public sentiment is all theirs. They have the "whip-hand" of their adversaries in all those relations of life on which men are far more dependent for happiness and influence than on government position. Public Opinion is king in Tennessee, as in the rest of the world; and it is a greater king than Brownlow. In their public addresses the conservative speakers denounce their adversaries with the utmost freedom and boldness, to audiences that applaud to the echo. In Nashville recently, a speaker declared, in the presence of Cooper, the commander-in-chief of Brownlow's militia, that there was not a gentleman in the whole organization, from Cooper down. The latter was forced to bear it. In short the militia, set to overawe the people, are overawed by the people.

Among the negroes, too, there is both division and reaction. The exclusion of negroes from the registry, shows the Radical alarm. The proceedings of large assemblies, and the addresses, (one of which we have before us,) of intelligent men among them, show that the Radicals have cause for their fears.

Is there not much encouragement in the fact, that, with all their precautions, the Radicals of Tennessee are confronted and stared at by defeat? Does it not prove that intelligence and virtue are more powerful than political proscription and disabilities, and that they cannot be kept from the rule? It is impossible for Brownlow and his pestilent handful, to withstand the concentrated power of the public opinion of the united intelligence and virtue of the State. It is the nature of vice to cower before a manly virtue;—it is the law of God. It is the nature of ignorance, to slink from the ridicule and the lash of learning and wit. The sun no more certainly drives the darkness and the mists before it, than a superior intelligence takes dominion over an inferior."

OUR WIDOWS AND ORPHANS.

We have more than once called the attention of our people to the obligation of providing, in some form, for sustenance and other necessary provision for the many widows and orphans who have been made such by the late war. The condition of many of them is enough to move a heart of stone. Their sighs and the cries of their suffering children have gone up to God. He will answer and bless them.

The poverty-stricken condition of our people, it is plain, prevents all hope of providing by State action eleemosynary institutions for their care and comfort, nor could we hope that any provision could be made by direct taxation, except for public school purposes and that ordinarily made by the Counties for the poor. Appeals, therefore, to the Governor for State aid, can avail nothing, so long as the State has failed so far to make any such provision for widows and orphans, as many of them are led to hope for.

His Excellency, Gov. Worth, permits us to publish the following excellent and touching appeal, received the other day from Mrs. Lamkin, of Warren, who tells her own story, in the hope that, in the absence of all power in the State Executive to provide for her and her children, it may reach the eye of benevolent and thoughtful persons who may possibly be able to point out to her the proper road to the employment which she desires. She does not ask for charity, though she is clearly a proper object, but for employment—some place or vocation in which by her own labor she could support her family.

This is only one of a thousand or more cases in this State of bereaved widows and children. He alone, who "tempers the winds to the shorn lamb," knows how life has been preserved so long to those suffering widows and orphans; yet He, who has provided for them so far, will still do so.

In a long course of observation, under circumstances of varied and severe trial, the writer of this can truly say, that he has never known a virtuous, industrious woman left poor and friendless, with children to care for, who has not in some mysterious way been provided for,—at least, to the extent of preservation, though they may have been the subjects of great want. Virtue, industry and the courage of a true woman, have always brought friends. And the world owes to such mothers a debt of gratitude for the thousands of useful men and women, who have been trained up in the midst of poverty, by virtuous, industrious, courageous, widowed mothers. But read Mrs. Lamkin's letter:

WARREN COUNTY, N. C.,
July 18th, 1867.

To His Excellency GOV. WORTH:

When North Carolina called for volunteers, my husband cheerfully responded to the call. He now slumbers with hundreds of others near Petersburg, Va. He fell discharging his duty, sacrificing his life for his country. The officer in command of his company, wrote to me that he faithfully performed his duties, and he had lost a good man. His widow now calls upon the State to give her some employment, which will enable her to support and educate her children. Will the State respond to her call?

Provision has been made for the negro. The maimed have been attended to; monuments have been erected for the dead; donations sent hither and thither, but the widows and orphans of this country have been forgotten. I do not ask for help. I ask for some employment that will support my family. My education is limited, but I think it sufficient to qualify me for some business, whereby I may make a decent living and educate my orphaned children.—Surely you cannot deny the fact that the women ought to be employed, when it is their only chance to give their little ones bread! I have a small school, but it will not support my family; over two-thirds of my pupils are orphans; their mothers, like myself, are poor; I am not able to procure the books which my children need. All I ask is employment and to be paid for my work. My family consists of an aged mother and three children, the oldest in his tenth year. I can give good recommendations.—Only give me a trial.

Very Respectfully,
MARIA L. LAMKIN.

GOLDSBORO' FEMALE COLLEGE.

Messrs. Editors:—The Commencement exercises of this Institution of learning came off on the 3d and 4th inst.—the close of the scholastic year.

From the little girls of the Preparatory Department, to the young ladies of the highest Collegiate classes, there was manifested an earnestness very commendable to them in the duties assigned to each.

On Wednesday evening, the Rev. J. B. Hardwicke, of Goldsboro,' preached the graduating sermon, and on Thursday, at 11 A. M., the Rev. J. W. Tucker, of Wilson, delivered the Literary Address to the young ladies of the College. These gentlemen maintained their high reputation as divines and scholars, to the delight and instruction of large audiences.

On Thursday afternoon, we had the pleasure of hearing an elegant address from President S. M. Frost, on the importance of Female Education, especially at this particular time, when the sons are called to superintend or assist in the cultivation of the cereals and other crops. In the absence of the father or brother, the wife or sister can take charge of the education of the smaller members of the family. So educate your daughters. This we are doing, and it is pleasing to know that our people, in their present troubles, are not neglecting the important duty of educating their sons and daughters. Money thus spent is well invested.

On Thursday evening the concert came off, which was charming, to all lovers of good music, and, judging from the crowded Chapel, we should say the citizens of Goldsboro' know how to appreciate such music as charmed our souls on that occasion.

We were pleased to see so many from a distance in attendance,—we presume they feel like attending again. The accommodations are insufficient for the large numbers attending these annual festivities, and we hope the enterprising gentlemen, who have invested funds in so glorious a cause as female education, will take proper steps for the enlargement of the Chapel. This is called for by the increasing patronage of the school, and the visitors on Commencement occasions. We noticed the seats also, being new and very comfortable—a great desideratum for the school-room. The health of the pupils, we are informed, was very good.

Premiums were awarded to Misses Jones, of Beaufort, Bettie and Sallie Coward, of ——, Borden, of Goldsboro, and Dunn, of Lenoir, for excellence in their several departments.

PUBLIC MEETING IN CHATHAM.

CHATHAM CO., July 22nd, 1867.

Messrs. Editors:—I have heretofore given you a summary of the proceedings of a meeting held by the colored people, at the Freedmen's School-House, near Williams' Mills, in this County. Owing to circumstances, their anticipations on that occasion were not realized, in consequence of which Friday, the 19th inst., was set apart for a fuller demonstration. As on the previous occasion, a goodly number of the colored people were in attendance, and also a portion of the most respectable citizens of the County, who seemed to have a desire to know what advice would be given to their former servants. The pressing condition of the farming interests doubtless hindered others, similarly inclined, from attending.

The first speaker on the stand was one Hutchings, of color, from Raleigh, who advised his brethren to endeavor to educate themselves and their children, that they might be better able to perform the duties of freemen. He further advised them to follow peaceable industrial pursuits, assuring them that they need expect nothing from confiscation, but must buy lands with the proceeds of their own industry, if they ever possessed them.

R. W. York, Esq., was then called for, and responded in a speech of some length, full of good advice as well in the main for the white as the colored people. He spoke for no party or party purposes, but in the general interest and for the welfare of the whole country. The colored people he advised to be industrious and energetic in the quiet pursuits of labor and instruction, since now they were free, that they might be of ser vice to their country.

James Jones, of color, from Raleigh, was the next to speak, and he endorsed fully the advice that had been given his people by the preceding gentleman, and urged upon them the necessity of accepting it fully and in good faith; only, in addition, would he add that they should become members of the Republican party.

This last speaker, though an avowed Republican, was nevertheless conservative throughout, and, on the whole, gave his people wholesome counsel; indeed, I understand that the Standard has quite fallen out with him for his conservatism, and is likely to drop him from the list.

Thus far in the proceedings, all things had gone on harmoniously, but just at this junction one William T. Gunter arose, and was so rampant and vindictive that one would have imagined that black bile filled his veins instead of blood. He called God to witness the truth of his assertions, while he avowed that he had always been a good Union man, and was hunted down for four long years "by rebels and traitors," who ought now to be sent to hell and chained there! Well, now, Messrs. Editors, this is rather the hardest anathema I have heard pronounced by any one, but if one should suffer for his offences, ought not all to suffer? According to the old proverb, "give the Devil his due," I would ask this malignant gentleman how his case would stand, if his Satanic majesty was to call for what belonged to him? I ask him if, just before the breaking out of the late war, he was not one of the most rabid secessionists? If he did not write letters from Arkansas, then his home, to a gentleman in Chatham county, brimful of indignation and wrath because that gentleman still stood by the Union and constitution? And I would furthermore ask him, by what means he has so thoroughly cleansed his blood, and where is the Lethe of forgetfulness in which he has bathed, that he no more remembers his own sins?

Suffice it to say that this gentleman's harangue was not very well received, after the wholesome advice that had already been given.

SPECTATOR.

CLOVER AND GRASSES.

Editors Sentinel:—As a corner of your paper is open to correspondents on agriculture, I wish to make a few enquiries, for general information, concerning clover and grasses, which, I hope, some experienced and practical husbandman, whose eye this may meet, will answer.

First—The correct time of sowing clover seed—whether fall or spring? The number of acres to be sowed to the bushel of seed; the best manner of preparing the seed to sow; and the manner to put them in?

Second—What kind of grass or hay is best adapted to land destitute of lime? The number of acres to be sowed to the bushel of seed; the time and manner of sowing the same?

[We would be obliged to some farmer, who has experience in such matters, for answers to the foregoing interrogatories.—Sentinel.]

BLOOD THIRSTY LOGAN.

Gen. Logan's declaration in Congress the other day, that if he had been the man who captured Jeff. Davis he would instantly have executed or assassinated him, looks like a fling at the gallant officer who commanded the capturing party, and who failed to hang or shoot the rebel chief. It is in keeping with the assaults upon Grant for accepting Lee's parole after the surrender at Appomattox, instead of plunging the surrendered sword of the captive General into its owner's heart. According to the Logan-Butler-Schenck theory, the proper way to have ended up the war was by a general massacre of all Southern rebels—which means, according to them, all the white population of the South.—N. Y. Times.

CHIEF JUSTICE MARSHALL.—Marshall, returning from North Carolina, wrapped in profound thought on some knotty point, found himself suddenly brought to a halt by a small tree which intervened between the front wheel and body of his buggy.—Seeing a servant at short distance, he asked him to bring an axe and cut down the tree. The servant told the Judge that there was no occasion for cutting down the tree, but just to back the buggy. Pleased at the good sense of the fellow, he told him that he would leave him something at the inn hard by, where he intended to stop, having then no small change. In due time the negro applied, and a dollar was handed him.—Being asked if he knew who it was gave him the dollar, he replied: "No, sir; I concluded he was a gentleman by leaving his money, but I think he is the biggest fool I ever saw."

THE GREAT FALL IN FLOUR.—The great fall in flour—two dollars in the barrel in three days—begins to tell the story pretty effectually of what is to follow when the new crop really fills the market. The only occasion for surprise is, that already the price has not come down lower and more rapidly; but enough has already occurred to warrant us in congratulating our readers that the dire reign of scarcity and consequent speculative prices is over, and that henceforward the masses will have things pretty much their own way in the thing of cheap bread.—Baltimore Commercial.

The centre of the United States has been definitely fixed. It is Columbus, Nebraska, ninety-six miles west of Omaha.

New Features and Advantages Which are Known as Belonging to no Other Company in the United States.

THE MANAGEMENT OF THIS COMPANY IS upon the Mutual Benefit System—the accumulated profits going to the assured.

This company makes a special deposit with the Insurance Department of the State, for which Registered policies are issued if desired, countersigned by the Superintendent of the Insurance Department of the State of New York, certifying that such policies are secured by pledge of public stocks.

No other Company gives the assured a guarantee of this character or anything equivalent.

Thirty days' of grace are allowed on all renewed premiums, and the policy remains valid and in full force during that time.

No restrictions as to travel or residence abroad at any season of the year, outside the tropics, which gives a nearly world-wide and unconditional policy.

No higher rate of premium charged for stationary Engineers, Conductors, Baggage Masters, Mail Agents, nor in consequence of change of employment after the policy is issued.

Notes are not required by this Company, but a loan may be obtained on the policy for one third of the annual premium, which is cancelled by the profits applied as dividends.

Joint policies, including man and wife, are issued by this Company, and the amount insured is payable to the survivor on the death of either.

Our dividend, January 1st. 1866, was 45 per cent.

Dividends are declared annually, and paid on settlement of 4th. Annual Premium, on all our plans upon the full amount of premiums received.

Premiums may be paid annually, semi-annually or quarterly.

All policies issued by this Company are non-forfeiting, after two, in some instances, and three annual payments in others.

The per centage of premium receipts in 1865, over 1864, was 251 per cent; which is nearly double that of any other New York company.

Policies incontestable from any cause except on account of fraud.

THE SENTINEL.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

FRIDAY, JULY 26, 1867.

TO ADVERTISERS.—The public will find the Sentinel one of the best mediums of advertising in the State. Its circulation covers a larger area, perhaps, than any other paper.

CAPT. R. A. SHOTWELL, of Newbern, is our authorized agent to receive subscriptions and advertising for the Sentinel in Craven, Carteret, Jones and Onslow. He will spend the summer at Morehead City and Beaufort, and will give us the news from that section.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—Agricultural and Mechanical Ware-House, Labor Saving Pump, &c: Mitchell, Allen & Co., Newbern.

Muskingum Valley Portable Engine Works, Zanesville, Ohio: Jno. B. Gretter, Guilford Land Agency, Greensboro, sole Agent for this State.

See new 'Through Freight' announcement on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad: C. B. Allen, Agent.

Turner's N. C. Almanac for 1868: See notice of Williams & Lambeth.

Important sale of N. C. State Bonds: K. P. Battle, Public Treasurer.

HIS EXCELLENCY, Governor Worth, has offered a reward of $300 for the apprehension of Gus Holmes, the negro who recently murdered another freedman in Tarboro, and subsequently escaped from jail.

PROF. W. C. KERR.—This gentleman, the State Geologist, has just returned to this City, after an extensive tour of exploration in the West. We hope to have some note of his researches. He will remain here but a few days before resuming his active labors.

KEEP COOL.—Theim's Sparkling Soda Water is the very thing for the season. We have never drank better. Go to Theim's, if you want a-No. 1 article. The ladies find polite and attentive clerks to wait upon them.

HON. KENNETH RAYNER.—Private letters received in this city, from this gentleman, represent himself and estimable family in good health, and pleased with their new home.

Mr. Rayner writes that there never has been anything like the present corn crop in the Mississippi valley. It is promising and luxuriant beyond all former experience.

ON OUR FIRST PAGE will be found some interesting extracts from the pamphlet just issued by the Literary Board, setting forth the value of the Swamp Lands of North Carolina. We propose to continue them.

BIBLICAL RECORDER.—Prof. W. J. Walters, of Wake Forest Celloge, has purchased the interest of the Rev. J. D. Hufham in this establishment, and the paper will hereafter be conducted by Messrs. Walters & Hughes. Mr. Hufham, the retiring Editor, is a gentleman of cultivated mind and tastes, which he has made most useful in his editorial experience, while Prof. Walters comes to his new duties with a fine reputation for ability and energy.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Some weeks ago a special agent of the Post-Office Department reported to the Postmaster-General that he had detected frauds perpetrated by the postmaster at Greensburg, Indiana, and that the postmaster had admitted that his book entries had been changed, &c. Upon this showing the postmaster was suspended. When Congress met the facts were certified to the Senate, and a new postmaster nominated. The Senate rejected the nomination, and under the tenure of office law the old postmaster is reinstated in office.

The Postmaster-General to-day notified the reinstated officer of the action of the Senate, and added, "You are respectfully requested, as a favor to the department, to use as little money of the government, and make as few false entries, as possible."

A month or so ago, Mr. Rufus Lord, of New York, the victim in the celebrated Lord bond robbery, received from an unknown source $1,400,000 of the bonds that had been stolen. It has now been ascertained that they were sent to him through the firm of James G. King's Sons, from the London bankers, Baring Brothers, who received them from a London lawyer, who in his turn had received them from the guilty party. Who that party is remains at present a secret with the English lawyer.

REGISTRATION IN ALABAMA.—Montgomery, Ala., July 22.—Registration returns from nearly half the State show great indifference on the part of the whites. Only fourteen thousand whites have registered to thirty-two thousand blacks. Registration will probably be completed in three weeks, and it is estimated now that there will not be over one hundred and thirty-five thousand persons registered. Some of the largest white voting counties are yet to hear from.

STATE ITEMS.

—The Newbern papers publish the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of the State vs. Banvester Haywood. In delivering the opinion, the Chief Justice pays the following handsome compliment to his Honor, Judge Green, of the Craven Criminal Court:

"We fully approve of the charge of his Honor upon the subject of insanity. It is clear, concise and accurate, and as it is difficult to convey to the minds of jurors an exact legal idea of the subject, we feel at liberty to call the attention of the other judges to the charge."

—A silver cup, lined with gold, is to be presented the farmer who is fortunate enough to get to the Beaufort market the first 400 lb bale of cotton, raised in Carteret County on one farm. It has been gotten up by the merchants of Beaurort.

—The Wilmington Journal publishes the communication of "Oxford," which appeared in the Sentinel, calling upon Gov. Swain to write a History of North Carolina, and endorses the suggestion in an article highly and deservedly complimentary to that gentleman's eminent fitness for such a work.

—The Fayetteville News, speaking of the trial before the Military Commision, now in session in this City, of Messrs. McRae, Toler and other citizens of Fayetteville, says:

"The number of persons summoned as witnesses in the case of Capt. Toler, both for the defense and prosecution, has recently been greatly increased. Subpœnas have been served here since Saturday on several of our citizens, viz: Messrs. J. W. Strange, Jno. C. Williams, H. W. Horne, and one or two others."

—The same paper, commenting on the action of the Stockholders of the Chatham Railroad Co., in this City, recently, remarks:

"The important resolution there adopted, connecting the Chatham Road with our Western Railroad at Jonesboro', gives some promise for the future, and we may confidently hope for the early construction of the ten or twelve miles which now separate the termini of the two roads, thereby giving Fayetteville railway communication with Raleigh and other points on the N. C. R. R. There are other great and permanent advantages to result from this meeting, which want of time prevents us from mentioning now, but to which we will refer at length hereafter."

OUR COLORED FELLOW-CITIZENS—HOW THEY ARE SWORN IN.—Meantime, however, the work of registration is going on throughout the whole State, and to day I had an opportunity of seeing the process in practical operation at the Atlanta court house. The board is composed of two white men and one black, and during my stay I saw several scores of both races made into voters. After several white men had been sworn individually, a batch of seven blacks was called up, and Pompey, Cæsar, and Crassus were made citizens in the lump. It was a curious spectacle, and one calculated to stir many reflections. Standing in a row, they listened very attentively to the reading of the oath, some bending forward and others with hand to the ear, the better to catch each word. The reader threw in for their benefit a running exegesis of the oath, causing them to guffaw by a droll look when he recited that part of it which makes them swear that they had never held "executive or judicial office in any State," while, when he came to read the prohibition against registering by those who had been distranchised for felony, and explained "felony" by the gloss, "such as cow stealing," they were so struck by the drollery of the interpretation that their bodies bent and swayed in uncontrollable merriment.—Throughout all the recital their countenances showed a desperate mental effort to keep their "holt" of the meaning, and during the reading of the main body of the oath the effort was measurably successful; but when the registering officer came to where the formula speaks of "an act supplementary to an act" the poor fellows became perfectly flabbergasted; like Twemlow, they found their intellects giving way under the severe strain, and they lapsed into mere outer darkness and collapse. When I afterwards talked with them on the court house steps, I could not find one who had the faintest idea of the meaning or purpose of the thing and the brightest of them all only knew that it was something—he knew not what—that was "de best for de country."—From Swinton's Atlanta Letter to the New York Times.

An additional fractional currency note of the denomination of fifteen cents will shortly be issued. The principal embellishments on the face of this note will be an engraved likeness of General Grant on the right hand, and opposite, on the left of the note, a likeness of Lieutenant General Sherman. The back of the note, like all other late issues of government moneys, will be green, with the figure 15 on each side of the note. The bronze figures which have thus far been placed upon the various denominations of United States currency will be omitted, and, for safety, a peculiar kind of paper substituted.

On last Friday forenoon a grand and solemn funeral service was celebrated at the Catholic Cathedral at Mobile for the repose of the soul of the late Maximilian of Mexico. The ceremony was of a sad and impressive character, and was witnessed by a crowded congregation, in which were included the foreign consuls and officials of the city government.

Fourteen years ago, there were but two business houses in Americus, Georgia, and the population of the place was less than five hundred, including men, women and children, white and black. To-day, that town numbers over one hundred business houses, and a population of five or six thousand.

An old freedman, in Texas, was asked, a few days ago, if he was not going to register. He wished to know how he would have to proceed. On being told that he would have to swear to support the Constitution, his eyes widened, and drawing a long breath, he said he couldn't do it, because he couldn't support himself!

Dr. Hobbs, of the Boston Post, remarks: "Our clergymen should bear in mind that lengthy, argumentative, doctrinal sermons are almost entirely thrown away on congregations during hot weather. It is the short, nibby, sparkling, square-at-the-point article that does the business. It is pepper, not poppy, that is needed."

GEN. SHERIDAN.—There is tolerable good authority for saying that the President will shortly assign Gen. Sheridan to a new command, and place another officer in charge of the fifth district. But as yet Gen. Sheridan's successor has not been named.—Baltimore Sun's Correspondence.

General Sherman's opinion of Walrussia is said to be: "Give 'em seven millions more to take it back, and be thankful to get off so cheap."

RICHMOND, July 26.

The reply of the Justices of the Hustings Court to General Schofield will be made public to-day. The Court justifies its decision on the ground of justice, and utterly denies that the parties being born at the North or South had anything to do with it.

With reference to the fining of Hotze only one cent for assaulting the teacher of a freedman's school, who had whipped his brother, they say: "The time never was, that a Virginia Court would imprison any man for an assault upon another man who had beaten a child, even though the child so beaten was not of kith or kin, much less when the child was a son, daughter, brother, or sister of the party committing the assault. Such cases have previously occurred in our Courts, but never yet, in the history of Virginia Courts, was a man imprisoned for such an act. Such a sentence would shock the moral sense of the whole community."

With regard to the Court having advised a Nolle Prosequi in a case where the counsel of the parties had said "that now the Courts were intended only to try Confederates," the magistrates disclaim any responsibility for what the counsel may say, and deny that their judgment was at all influenced by the remark in question.

The Commonwealth Attorneys of the City and Hustings Courts also sent letters, sustaining the facts in the Magistrates' statements.

WILMINGTON NEWSPAPERS.

Half of the table rock at Niagara has been blown off. Two hundred pounds of powder moved the whole rock, but the projecting part only broke off, the other settling back.

The Vice Consul at Havana has notified the State Department that a cargo of coolies may be expected shortly at New Orleans, in violation of the United States laws. The Consul has reason to suspect that an extensive scheme is on foot for the introduction of coolie labor in the South contrary to law.

CONSECRATION OF A BISHOP.

Rt. Rev. Dr. Young, to-day, was consecrated Bishop of Florida—Dr. Hopkins officiating. The ceremony took place in Trinity Church, which was crowded to overflowing. Six Bishops and fifty Clergymen assisted. Bishop Wilmer, of Louisiana, preached the sermon.

An arsenic manufacturer in Boston died yesterday from the continuous infusion of the poison into his system during his long employment in manufacturing it.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, in a sermon delivered last Sunday, said that more public men of eminence had started from the business of type-setting than probably from any other occupation.

A young woman being reproved for indifference to a suitor who had offended her by his slovenly dress replied, "Why should I pine away for him when he will not spruce up to me?"

Mr. Robert Toombs, of Georgia, has not been pardoned by the President, as stated in some of the papers.

It is said President Johnson is preparing a proclamation warning all persons in the United States from joining in any unlawful expeditions against Mexico.

The reconstruction act leaves the power of removal of district commanders to the President, but it is not likely that he will exercise that authority except, perhaps, in the case of General Sheridan.—New York Tribune.

FRIDAY, JULY 26, 1867.

"SONGS WITH PRELUDES."

The racing river leaped and sang
 Full blithely in the perfect weather,
All round the mountain-echoes rang,
 For blue and green were glad together.

This rained out light from every part
 And that with songs of joy was thrilling;
But, in the hollow of my heart,
 There ached a place that wanted filling.

Before the road and river meet,
 And stepping-stones are wet and glisten,
I heard a sound of laughter sweet,
 And paused to like it, and to listen.

I heard the chanting waters flow,
 The cushat's note, the bee's low humming—
Then, turned the hedge, and did not know—
 How could I?—that my time was coming.

A girl upon the highest stone,
 Half doubtful of the deed, was standing,
So far the shallow flood had flown
 Beyond the 'customed leap of landing.

She knew not any need of me,
 Yet me she waited all unweeting;
She thought not I had crossed the sea
 And half the sphere to give her meeting.

I waded out, her eyes I met,
 I wished the moments had been hours;
I took her in my arms, and set
 Her dainty feet among the flowers.

Her fellow-maids in copse and lane,
 Ah! still, methinks, I hear them calling;
The wind's soft whisper in the plain,
 The cushat's coo, the water's falling.

But now it is a year ago,
 But now possession crowns endeavor;
I took her in my heart, to grow
 And fill the hollow place forever.

A FIRST CLASS SCHOOL FOR BOYS,

ELLICOTTS MILLS, MD.,

(NEAR BALTIMORE.)

THIS SCHOOL WAS ESTABLISHED FOR the purpose of enabling SOUTHERN Boys, at a comparatively moderate cost, to enjoy all the advantages that are afforded in the best and most expensive Northern Schools.

It has been, already, eminently successful.—The Hall is a large and beautiful edifice. The Household is under the immediate charge of the Rector and his wife. The pupils are all received as members of the family; strict attention is given to their health, personal habits and to the cultivation of courteous manners, while every care is taken to unite the comforts of a home, with the strict discipline of a School. In these respects, this Institution claims to have no superior in the country.

The Teachers are all gentlemen of fine classical attainments, and the instruction is of the most thorough kind.

All persons appointed to office will be required to take the oath prescribed by the act aforesaid and to file the same duly subscribed and sworn with the Post Commander.

2. All citizens assessed for taxes, and who shall have paid taxes for the current year, are qualified to serve as jurors. It shall be the duty of the proper civil officers, charged with providing lists of jurors, to proceed within their several jurisdictions, without delay, and ascertain the names of all qualified persons, and place them on the jury lists, and from such revised lists all jurors shall be hereafter summoned, and drawn in the manner required by law.

3. All citizens are eligible to follow any licensed calling, employment or avocation, subject to such impartial regulations as may be prescribed by municipal or other competent authority, not inconsistent with common rights and the Constitution and laws of the United States. The bond required as security shall not exceed the penal sum of one hundred dollars. One or more sureties being citizens and worth, in the aggregate, double the amount of the bond, over and above just debts, will be sufficient.

4. The Mayors of cities and other municipal and town officers, and all Sheriffs, Magistrates and Police officers, are required to be vigilant and efficient in maintaining order, and in the discharge of their duties. They will be expected to co-operate with the military authorities.

5. Post commanders may summon to their aid, whenever the ordinary means at their disposal shall not be sufficient to execute their orders, such of the civil officers, and as many of the citizens, within the territorial limits of the military post, as may be necessary, and the neglect or refusal of any person to aid and assist in the execution of the orders of the Commanding officer will be deemed a misdemeanor, punishable by such fine and imprisonment as may be imposed by a military tribunal approved by the Commanding General.

The number of such licenses shall be determined, and the fees to be charged for each license shall be prescribed and collected, by the municipal or town authorities and appropriated exclusively for the benefit of the poor. If any person shall be found drunk on the premises where liquor is sold, the license may be revoked by any magistrate. The tax imposed by the Internal Revenue laws of the United States is an additional charge and does not excuse the person from the observance of local regulations, nor exempt him from the payment of such other license fees as may be imposed by the municipal or other competent authorities.

7. All contracts hereafter made for the manufacture, sale or transportation, storage or insurance of intoxicating liquors shall within this military district be deemed and treated as against public policy, and no civil action, suit or proceedings for the enforcement of any such contract shall be entertained in any court.

8. In public conveyances on railroads, highways, streets or navigable waters, no discrimination because of color or caste shall be made, and the common rights of all citizens therein shall be recognized and respected. The violation of this regulation will be deemed a misdemeanor and render the offender liable to arrest and trial by a Military tribunal to be designated by the commanding General, besides such damages as the injured party may sue for and recover in the civil Courts.

9. The remedy by distress for rent is abolished. Where lands are leased, or let out for hire or rent, cotton, corn or other produce of the same, when severed from the land, may be impounded, but the same shall not be removed. Any cotton, corn or other produce so impounded shall be held as security for the rent or hire so claimed and may be sold in satisfaction of any judgment for the same, Provided, that any unsatisfied claim for labor bestowed upon the cultivation of such cotton, corn, or other produce, shall, in no case, be postponed to any demand for rent or hire. But to the extent of such claim for labor there shall be a lien on such cotton, corn and other produce having preference over any claim for rent or hire.

Congressional Reconstruction Acts.

For the information of our readers we republish as follows the late reconstruction act of Congress, known as the Sherman-Shellabarger Bill. We shall add to it the Howard Amendment, Test Oath and the Supplementary act, all of which will be kept standing until the necessary information they contain shall be generally and fully understood.

THE RECONSTRUCTION ACT.

[Passed over the President's Veto, March 2d, 1867.]

WHEREAS, no legal State governments or adequate protection for life or property now exists in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Texas, and Arkansas; and whereas it is necessary that peace and good order should be enforced in said States until loyal and Republican State Governments can be legally established: Therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That said rebel States shall be divided into military districts and made subject to the military authority of the United States, as hereinafter prescribed, and for that purpose Virginia shall constitute the first district; North Carolina and South Carolina the second district; Georgia, Alabama and Florida the third district; Mississippi and Arkansas the fourth district; and Louisiana and Texas the fifth district.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the President to assign to the command of each of said districts an officer of the army, not below the rank of Brigadier general, and to detail a sufficient military force to enable such officer to perform his duties and enforce his authority within the district to which he is assigned.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of each officer assigned as aforesaid to protect all persons in their rights of person and property, to suppress insurrection, disorder and violence, and to punish or cause to be punished all disturbers of the public peace and criminals, and to this end he may allow local civil tribunals to take jurisdiction of and to try offenders, or, when in his judgement it may be necessary for the trial of offenders, he shall have power to organize military commissions or tribunals for that purpose, and all interference, under color of State authority, with the exercise of military authority under this act shall be null and void.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That all persons put under military arrest by virtue of this act shall be tried without unnecessary delay, and no cruel or unusual punishment shall be inflicted; and no sentence of any military commission or tribunal hereby authorized, affecting the life or liberty of any person, shall be executed until it is approved by the officer in command of the district, and the laws and regulations for the government of the army shall not be affected by this act, except in so far as they conflict with its provisions. Provided, That no sentence of death, under the provisions of this act, shall be carried into effect without the approval of the President.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That when the people of any one of said rebel States shall have formed a constitution of government in conformity with the Constitution of the United States in all respects, framed by a convention of delegates elected by the male citizens of said State, twenty one years old and upwards, of whatever race, color or previous condition, who have been resident in said State for one year previous to the day of such election, except such as may be disfranchised for participation in the rebellion, or for felony at common law; and when such constitution shall provide that the elective franchise shall be enjoyed by all such persons as have the qualifications herein stated for electors of delegates; and when such constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such Constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such constitution shall have been submitted to Congress for examination and approval, and Congress shall have approved the same; and when the said State, by a vote of its legislature, elected under said constitution, shall have adopted the amendment to the constitution of the United States, proposed by the Thirty-ninth Congress, and known as article fourteen; and when said article shall have become a part of the constitution of the United States, said State shall be declared entitled to representation in Congress, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom, on their taking the oath prescribed by law; and then and thereafter the preceding sections of this act shall be inoperative in said State. Provided, That no person excluded from the privilege of holding office by said amendment to the constitution of the United States shall be eligible to election as a member of the convention to frame a constitution for any of said rebel States, nor shall any such person vote for members of such convention.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That until the people of said rebel States shall be by law admitted to representation in the Congress of the United States, any civil government which may exist therein shall be deemed provisional only, and in all respects subject to the paramount authority of the United States at any time to abolish, modify, control or supersede the same; and in all elections to any office under such provisional governments all persons shall be entitled to vote, and none others, who are entitled to vote under the provisions of the fifth section of this act; and no person shall be eligible to any office under such provisional governments who would be disqualified from holding office under the provisions of the third article of said constitutional amendment.

SCHUYLER COLFAX.
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

LAFAYETTE S. FOSTER.

Proposed Constitutional Amendment.

ARTICLE XIV.

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Sec. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, representatives in Congress, executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Sec. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Sec. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims, shall be held illegal and void.

Sec. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article.

The following is the oath of office referred to in the 5th section of the bill, and also in the 6th of the Supplementary Bill:

An Act to Prescribe an Oath of Office and for Other Purposes.

Be it enacted, That hereafter any person elected or appointed to any office of honor or profit under the government of the United States, either in the civil, military or naval department of the public service, except the President of the United States, shall before entering upon the duties of such office, and before being entitled to any of the salary or other emolument thereof, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: "I, A B, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have never voluntarily borne arms against the U. S. since I have been a citizen thereof; that I have voluntarily given no aid, countenance, counsel or encouragement to persons engaged in armed hostility thereto; that I have never sought nor accepted, nor attempted to exercise the functions of any office whatever, under any authority, or pretended authority, in hostility to the United States; that I have not yielded a voluntary support to any pretended government, power or constitution within the United States, hostile or inimical thereto; and I do further swear (or affirm) that to the best of my knowlege and ability, I will support and defend the constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter. So help me God," which oath, so taken and signed, shall be preserved among the files of the Court, Houses of Congress, or the department to which said officer may appertain. And any person who may falsely take said oath shall be guilty of perjury, and on conviction, in addition to the penalties now prescribed for that offence, shall be deprived of his office, and rendered incapable, forever after, of holding any office or place under the United States.

Approved July 2, 1862.

SUPPLEMENT TO THE STEVENS-SHERMAN-SHELLABARGER BILL.

AN ACT supplemental to an act entitled an act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2, 1867, and to facilitate restoration.

Be it enacted &c., That before the first day of September, 1867, the commanding general in each district defined by the act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, approved March 2, 1867, shall cause a registration to be made of the male citizens of the United States, twenty-one years of age, and upwards, resident in each county or parish in the State or States included in his district, which registration will include only those persons who are qualified to vote for delegates by the act aforesaid, and who shall have taken and subscribed the following oath or affirmation:

"I, ———, do solemnly swear, or affirm, in the presence of Almighty God, that I am a citizen of the State of ———; that I have resided in said State for ——— months next preceding this day, and now reside in the county of ———, or the parish of ———, in said State, as the case may be; that I am 21 years old; that I have not been disfranchised for participation in any rebellion or civil war against the United States, nor for felony committed against the laws of any State or of the United States; that I have never been a member of any State Legislature, or held any executive or judicial office in any State, and afterwards engaged in insurrection and rebellion against the United States, and given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof: that I have never taken an oath as a member of Congress of the United States, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, and afterwards engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; that I will faithfully support the Constitution and obey the laws of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, encourage others so to do. So help me God."

which oath or affirmation may be administered by any registering officer.

Sec. 2. That after the completion of the registration hereby provided for in any State at such time and place therein as the commanding general shall appoint and direct, of which at least thirty day's public notice shall be given, an election shall be held of delegates to a convention for the purpose of establishing a constitution and civil government for such State loyal to the Union; said convention in each State, except Virginia, to consist of the same number of members as the most numerous branch of the State Legislature of such State in the year 1860, to be apportioned among the several districts, counties, or parishes of such State by the commanding general, giving to each, representation in the ratio of voters registered as aforesaid as nearly as may be. The convention in Virginia shall consist of the same number of members as represented the territory now constituting Virginia in the most numerous branch of the Legislature of said State in the year 1860, to be apportioned as aforesaid.

Sec. 3. That at such election the registered voters of each State shall vote for or against a convention to form a constitution thereof under this act. Those voting in favor of such a convention shall have written or printed on the ballots by which they vote for delegates, as aforesaid, the words "for a convention;" and those voting against such a convention shall have written or printed on such ballots the words "against a convention." The persons appointed to superintend said election, and to make return of the votes given thereat, as herein provided, shall count and make return of the votes given for and against a convention; and the commanding general, to whom the same shall have been returned, shall ascertain and declare the total vote in each State for and against a convention. If a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, then a convention shall be held, as hereinafter provided; but if a majority of said votes shall be against a convention, then no convention shall be held under this act: Provided, That such convention shall not be held unless a majority of all such registered voters shall have voted on the question of holding such convention.

Sec. 4. That the commanding general of each district shall appoint such loyal officers or persons as may be necessary, not exceeding three in each election district, in any State, to make and complete the registration, superintend the election, and make return to him of the votes, lists of voters and of the persons elected as delegates by a plurality of the votes cast at said election; and upon receiving said returns he shall open the same, ascertain the persons elected as delegates according to the returns of the officers who conducted said election, and make proclamation thereof; and if a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, the commanding general, within sixty days from the date of election, shall notify the delegates to assemble in convention at a time and place to be mentioned in the notification, and said convention, when organized, shall proceed to frame a Constitution and civil government according to the provisions of this act, and the act to which it is supplementary; and when the same shall have been so framed, said Constitution shall be submitted by the convention for ratification to the persons registered under the provisions of this act, at an election to be conducted by the officers, or persons appointed by the commanding general as hereinbefore provided, and to be held after the expiration of thirty days from the date of notice thereof to be given by said convention, and the returns thereof shall be made to the commanding general of the district.

Sec. 5 That if, according to said returns, the constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the votes of the registered electors qualified as herein specified, cast at said election, at least one-half of all the registered voters voting upon the question of such ratification, the president of the convention shall transmit a copy of the same, duly certified, to the President of the United States, who shall forthwith transmit the same to Congress, if then in session, and if not in session, then immediately upon its next assembling; and if it shall moreover appear to Congress that the election was one at which all the registered and qualified electors in the State had an opportunity to vote freely and without restraint, fear or the influence of fraud, and if Congress shall be satisfied that such constitution meets the approval of a majority of the qualified electors in the State, and if the said constitution shall be declared by Congress to be in conformity with the provisions of the act to which this is supplementary, and the other provisions of said act shall have been complied with, and the said constitution shall be approved by Congress, the State shall be declared entitled to representation, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom as herein provided.

Sec. 6. That all elections in the States mentioned in the said "Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States," shall, during the operation of said act, be by ballot; and all officers making the said registration of voters and conducting said elections shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, subscribe an oath faithfully to perform the duties of their said office, and the oath prescribed by the act approved July 2, 1862, entitled "An act to prescribe an oath of office:" Provided, That if any person shall knowingly and falsely take and subscribe any oath in this act prescribed, such person so offending, and being thereof duly convicted, shall be subject to the pains, penalties and disabilities which by law are provided for the punishment of the crime of wilful and corrupt perjury.

Sec. 7. That all expenses incurred by the several commanding generals, or by virtue of any orders issued or appointments made by them under or by virtue of this act, shall be paid out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Sec. 8. That the convention for each State shall prescribe the fees, salary, and compensation to be paid to all delegates and other officers and agents herein authorized or necessary to carry into effect the purposes of this act, not herein otherwise provided for, and shall provide for the levy and collection of such taxes on the property in such State as may be necessary to pay the same.

Sec. 9. That the word "article" in the sixth section of the act to which this is supplementary shall be construed to mean "section."
